

INSTRUMENTS

---

Histogram Recorder

TML histogram recording system uses preset programs to analyze phenomenon such as strain that changes over time, and it stores that analytical data as a histogram. TML histogram recording systems yield histograms immediately after measurements are taken because they analyze and record a phenomenon count while they measure. They can also measure continuously for periods exceeding one full year because they do not store waveform data or use magnetic tape.

HR-908A ---- 8 channels, small, on-vehicle, frequency measurement, etc